SIL Presents at ACSA's Every Child Counts Symposium

Creating a Data Story to Drive Conversations and Improvement.

Our System Improvement Leads improvement facilitators presented in January at the ACSA Every Child Counts Symposium. It was a wonderful opportunity to share with educators and leaders the importance of creating data stories to drive conversations and improvement. There was excitement with audience members sharing their experiences with data and the importance of creating equitable conversations. Read More...

High Leverage Practices (HLP) Trainings Are Empowering Educators

Empowering educators with high leverage practices is one aim of the System Improvement Leads team. In the past few months, professional development trainings in both math and literacy have been offered across the state, with future offerings in the works. Learning new strategies from experts and building skills alongside colleagues were highlights shared by attendees at both of these highly interactive and engaging sessions. Read More...

Inspiring Connection Through Generative Social Fields

In our efforts to improve outcomes for all learners, we emphasize how educational leaders have the ability to influence both generative and degenerative social fields. Understanding how we contribute to social fields is an important part of our practice. All systems are shaped by our relationships and the way we connect to one another. Leaders and educators have the power to build connections and make people feel connected. Read More...

Spotlight on Improvement

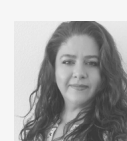

Sara Gallagher

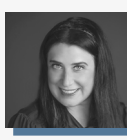

Sara has shared that she is proud to be a part of this work and appreciates the "lived commitment" of those engaging with the System Improvement Leads community. Sara brings a somewhat different perspective to our team with her 18 years of experience as a speech and language pathologist (SLP). Read more...
